

Group Relations Australia Inc
PO Box 92
Kangaroo Ground Vic 3097
Australia

SAVE THE DATE

Sunday 15th - Tuesday 17th April 2018.

Multiple roles: conflicted interests

Group relations non-residential experiential learning event for helping professionals & academics: psychotherapists, psychoanalysts, psychologists, psychiatrists, doctors, academic heads and deans, higher education directors, consultants, counsellors, social workers, managers...

Group Relations Australia has recognised a common challenge in the helping and academic professions: of the complexity in taking up roles, in clinical settings, professional membership & training organisations, higher education and in other institutional and societal contexts.

These include the challenge of being both a colleague and a leader, of being a professional and yet an active community member; and of managing the intricate boundary between being a person and a professional. The conference enables exploration of various concurrent roles such as clinician, consultant, manager, leader, teacher, organisational colleague and citizen.

The CoM has authorised Dr Veronika Grueneisen (Training Psychoanalyst and Organisation Consultant) (Germany), to direct event in Melbourne, 15th-17th April 2018. Currently other staff includes Dr Allan Shafer (Associate Director), Gregory Cook (Conference Manager) and Tania Nahum, with more staff to be appointed.

The conference will also be sponsored by The Tavistock Institute, London.

For inquiries or to register your interest, contact either
Dr Allan Shafer (Conference Associate Director) on norwood@iinet.net.au or Greg Cooke (Conference Manager) on greg.cook@centrelm.com.au or info@grouprelations.org.au